

Unit-Dose Delivery System

DelStrip™ Unit-Dose Delivery System for Thin Film Strips

One-of-a-kind packaging for your one-of-a-kind product

DelStrip™ UDDS is the most practical and convenient delivery system for the most consumer-friendly dosage form on the market. By providing individual pouches for each thin film strip, DelStrip UDDS gives consumers the freedom to take their medicine whenever they need it and wherever they want.

Delivering a competitive (and commercial) advantage

By improving accessibility, the innovative DelStrip™ system enhances many of the thin film strips' commercial benefits. The form's distinct advantages include:

- Unmatched portability—perfect for “on-the-go” administration
- Low-cost production—economical dosage form
- Preferred by children and teens—huge potential in the pediatric market
- Geriatric applications—convenient dosing for the elderly
- Veterinary purposes—ease of use in animal populations
- High retailer acceptance—leads to accessibility in more markets

Catalent is the market leader in unit-dose thin film strip packaging and your best partner for capabilities and systems that help accelerate the commercialization of your product.

The DelStrip™ system is the industry's first UDDS for thin film strips.
